CO-EDS REPRESENT URSINUS AT ANNUAL CONVENTION OF PA. WOMEN VOTERS

Many Phases of Political and Social Work Discussed at Meetings

MANY PROMINENT SPEAKERS

At the annual convention of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters held in Philadelphia the beginning of last week, Ursinus was represented by a group of girls elected by the W. S. G. A. Ursinus was very fortunate in being able to send observers to the meetings of this organization, which exerts such a far-reaching influence over the political life of the women of the commonwealth. The Ursinus representatives included Misses Leo, '27; Johnson, '27; Kauffman, '27; Miller, '27; Eppehimer, '27, Stibitz, '28, and Gulick, '28.

The first day's events took place at the League House on Spruce street. At the opening of the afternoon session Mrs. Herman L. Schwartz presented the 1926-27 program of work. The first topic of discussion was "Why a League of Women Voters," ably introduced by Mrs. Maxwell K. Chapman, of Scranton, and Mrs. George S. Seltzer, of Philadelphia. Succeeding and supplementing this, Mrs. John Y. Huber and Mrs. Edwin A. Yarnall, of the Montgomery and Delaware County Leagues respectively, gave light on the problem of "How to Secure as League Members Women not Previously Interested in Government." The remaining topics were "Strengthening the State Program," discussed by Mrs. Harry Whitney of the Chester County League; "Necessary Steps in Completing a Tax Survey" by Dr. C. County League; "Why the New Voter Interests me" by Mrs. E. Page Allison of Chester County; and "Questions in the Mind of a Finance Chairman" by Miss Henrietta Baldy Lyon.

At 8.30 p. m. on Monday evening a reception under the direction of the Philadelphia Ward Leaders and members of the Central Committee was given to the delegates and guests at the League House.

Tuesday's Program

Beginning on Tuesday morning the sessions were held at the Rose Garden of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. The day's program opened with a welcome to Philadelphia by Dr. Joseph H. Peniman, Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, followed by a response for the State Board by Mrs. Thomas Ross. After the reports of the Vice Chairmen and of the Treasurer, Mrs. John O. Miller, of Pittsburg, gave the State Chairman's Annual Address. Mrs. Miller's magnetic personality and keen interest in all forms of political activity make her a very pleasing speaker. Greetings from the Regional Director, Mrs. Casper Khitney, concluded the morning meeting.

The afternoon session opened with a report of the Nominating Committee. The first speaker was Dr. Young, of the University of Pennsylvania, who very capably handled the subject of "Immigration."

CLASS OF 1928 ELECTS RUBY OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

The Junior Class elected the Editor and Business Manager for the 1928 Ruby at a class meeting held Wednesday evening. The men selected were carefully chosen and after much deliberation it was decided to place the responsibility for their annual in the hands of Charles Fitzkee as Editor-in-Chief and Albert Lackman as Business Manager. It was left to these men to choose their own staff. These individuals will be chosen soon and the work on the 1928 Ruby will begin.

URSINUS STUDENTS WITNESS FAMOUS OPERA TANNHAUSER

Over 100 students and faculty members from the College, were present to witness the opera Tannhauser, presented in the Metropolitan Opera House, Philadelphia, last Thursday night.

Three large parlor busses, chaperoned by Mrs. Rauch, Mrs. Tower, and Miss Boorem, conveyed the students to Philadelphia. This was the first college sponsored trip to witness dramatic and musical productions, this year; and due to its high degree of success, will be continued throughout the season.

SHREINER BATTLES OLEVIAN TO TIE SCORE FOR HALL HOCKEY SUPREMACY

"Mickey" Johnson's Two Goals Near
End of Game Evens Score

GLENWOOD MEETS SHREINER

In spite of the cold and wintry weather, Olevian and Shreiner battled for hockey supremacy on Wednesday afternoon. The day students and girls from Godshall's played with Olevian, while South Hall aided Shreiner.

Altho the whole game was hard fought, Olevian led until almost the end of the game, due to Evelyn Lake's two goals and Hope Dietrich's counter. Mickey Johnson, altho playing on the defense, scored two goals late in the game, which when added to Kitten Witman's brought the score to a tie.

Because of the even break, Shreiner will play Glenwood and the winner shall tussle with Olevian for championship.

GROVE HAINES ADDRESSES WOMEN'S DEBATING CLUB

The Women's Debating Club held its regular weekly meeting Monday evening at eight o'clock. The regular debate program was dispensed with in favor of a talk on the "Art of Debating" by C. Grove Haines, a member of the Men's Debating Club, a varsity debater, and charter member of Tau Kappa Alpha. His speech was interestingly prepared and delivered in such manner as to portray that he not only knew the elements of debating but likewise their use.

He spoke first on the history of debating and how public self-expression gradually progressed, releasing itself from the bonds of logic and becoming humanistic in aspect. The human element, he said, the ability to apply your arguments to the circumstances of the times, is what really constitutes debating an art.

He proceeded, then, to analyze the art of debating and he divided it into five clear-cut divisions. In the first place, a debater must have an eye for fundamental issues; he must possess an analytical mind. He must be capable of finding, almost before he has begun any reading, the vulnerable points of the subject by questioning himself upon it. When he has asked himself these questions he must answer them. In doing this we reach the second division in the art of debating,

LITTLE ARMY CONQUERS THE URSINUS GRIDSMEN IN A 29-7 TRIUMPH

Bears Fight Hard Against Superior
Team of More Experienced Players

LONE GOAL MADE BY JEFFERS

The Ursinus Bears again stepped forth from their lair, this time to engage in battle with the little army at Chester in preparation to taking on the big army at West Point Saturday. When the smoke of the battle had cleared the Bears were found at the short end of a 29-7 score, having fallen prey to the mighty guns of the Chester cadets. Time after time the bullets of the Pauxti's grid machine penetrated the defense of the plucky Collegeville outfit hitting the bull's eye for four touchdowns.

Bears Show Fight

The final score, however, was no indication of the exhibition displayed by the Big Black team for with the exception of the first quarter the game was a good one. It was not that the Ursinus team lacked fight or laid down on the job but it was a superior team of more experienced men that came out victorious. It was the case of a fighting team outclassed and outplayed by a better aggregation.

P. M. C. launching a smashing offensive attack accompanied by wonderful interference rolled up three touchdowns in the first quarter, together with an extra point gained for a goal. A ninety-yard dash for a touchdown from the kick-off in the third period by Joe McCafferty, mid-quarterback for the Chester cadets, was the outstanding feature of the game. Ursinus made its lone touchdown in the same period, receiving the ball on the 38-yard line. Forward passes and line bucks by Moyer and Mink brought the ball to the P. M. C. 4-yard line. A forward pass Moyer to Jeffers scored the touchdown.

The occasion of the game was the official dedication of P. M. C.'s new stadium. In the presence of many spectators, just prior to the opening of the grid battle, Lieutenant Clarence L. Connor, of the Stadium committee, officially presented the stadium to General Charles E. Hyatt,

THIRD STUDENT COUNCIL DANCE A DECIDED SUCCESS

Sixty couples treaded the waxen maples of Patterson Field Cage to the strains of Ken Nichols and his "Elks Club" Orchestra on Saturday evening. It was the third of the regular monthly Student Council dances, and ranks among the "peppiest" hops held in the Field Cage this year. This was due partly to the orchestra, which was above the average, and also to the lack of heat in the Field Cage, which caused the dance to close too soon to suit the merry makers.

The chaperones for the dance were Prof. and Mrs. Boswell, Miss Ehret, and Miss Kuntz.

The committee responsible for the success of the affair consisted of Misses Lillian Moser, Pauline Thomas, Gladys Burr, Mary Jo Thomasson and Ruth Moyer, and Messrs. Clair Blum, Joseph Armento, James Poff, and Charles Clark.

THIRTY-FIRST VOLUME OF RUBY NEARING COMPLETION

It is nearing completion! That 1927 Ruby has started on its homeward path to the printers and by February the thirty-first volume of the annual will have placed its imprint on the Ursinus campus.

A new era in the editing of year books at Ursinus has been started, even though the editors maintain a pessimistic attitude toward the completed product. The board of editors headed by George Haines and his able assistant Clair Blum have worked with bulldog tenacity for the past few months in a desperate effort to complete.

MEN'S DEBATING TEAM WILL MEET ELIZABETHTOWN IN OPENING FORENSIC TILT

Cancellation of Allied War Debts
Question to be Debated

GETTYSBURG ON SCHEDULE

The schedule of the Men's Debating Team is almost completed for the seventh annual season of inter-collegiate forensics. The men selected by the first elimination seem to indicate that the members on the squads this year will be composed of veteran debaters and it is expected that they will have a very successful season.

The question used this year is "Resolved, that the United States should cancel the war debts owed it by the Allies." The teams scheduled will appear in dual and triangular tilts. Plans are now in the process of formation to have one of the Philadelphia Radio Stations broadcast one of the season's debates.

Schedule

The first debate will be with Elizabethtown College on December 7. This is always a very hard fought tilt for the opponents present very stiff arguments. The next tilt is still pending but in all probability it will be with

J. V.'S LOSE HARD FOUGHT GAME TO PERK. PREP., 25-6

Ursinus Jr. Varsity lost a hard fought game to Perkiomen Prep. School on Saturday afternoon at Pennsburg, by the score of 25-6. The score does not indicate the close game which the two teams played. The field was a sea of mud and the men after the first play were covered with muck. Perkiomen scored in the first period when a punt escaped the hands of an over eager Ursinus back and thus placed the ball in scoring position. The second Perkiomen touchdown was scored on straight football. Near the end of the second quarter the Ursinus backs found themselves and carried the ball to within one foot of the Perkiomen line as the half ended.

At the beginning of the second half the Bears rushed the ball for a touchdown, Young plunging across the line for a six-pointer. The Prep boys then tightened up and played good football the rest of the game. Towards the end of the last quarter the Bears tried the forward passing game and on two successive occasions a Perkiomen man intercepted and ran for touchdowns.

SEVEN BIG BEARS LOST THROUGH GRADUATION

When the Ursinus "Grizzlies" meet the Army "Mule" next Saturday, seven of the big bears will have played their last game of football as representatives of their Alma Mater. To a man they have acquitted themselves nobly of their work.

In his four years stay Capt. Stan. Moyer has been a constant member of the squad. In his Freshman year he was considered by critics as one of the most promising football men.

THE MID-SEMESTER SLUMP

Despite the fact that undergraduates in the American colleges institute many innovations and changes during the course of an academic year, one finds that, for the most part they follow in the foot-steps of their predecessors. Every college at this season of the year finds itself in the midst of a slump on the part of the students toward studies.

Ursinus College is no exception to this seemingly invincible law and the usual mid-semester slump has arrived on the campus. Professors lecture to the gaze of vacant faces, recitations take the appearance of a monologue, that of the instructor fishing for the answer in a sea barren of any thought. The student goes to classes only because he feels certain that he will not be called on; if he has any cuts remaining he will be absent. These are but some of the characteristics that accompany the slump.

But the insidious thing is that its presence makes itself felt in the organizations which are a vital part of the college. It is the uncompromising foe of co-operation. In the past month we have found that the literary societies cannot work together, and that the Curtain Club postponed its performances several times. These and many other faults can be traced back only to the general listlessness of the individuals that go to make these organizations. But regardless of where the blame lies, these faults are a hindrance to the college and detract from the impression that the school must create on the public.

Out of the general decadency which permeates the atmosphere, some interesting facts have shown themselves. Perhaps, this is one redeeming feature of the mid-year slump—that it strips an individual of all the conventional trapping and shows him to be exactly as he is; baring him to all his associates.

There is a great tendency on the part of the male population at the College to lead inconsistent and irregular lives. College must offer amusement and fun as well as work, but the fun that some of the fellows have chosen, is detrimental not only to themselves, but to the general morale of the institution, and creates an unjust standard by which the College is judged.

Clique rule which has been instituted as a substitution for individual co-operation has again begun to pull the strings, with the majority of the people as marionettes, who through ignorance or laziness have no minds of their own to make decisions. This fact is not a new one and is known to the majority, but it is again driven home in the course of the mid-semester slump. If it is to be admitted that we have students who must be directed in their actions by groups, then let us have recognized organizations by which this work can be carried on. Place it on a fair, open basis, by means of undergraduate clubs or fraternities.

These are but some of the conditions that are familiar to everyone who has the interest of Ursinus College deeply at heart. It has been the practice in the past to merely laugh at them as meaning nothing, or to keep them deeply censored so that student attention would not be attracted to them. Ursinus has grown tremendously with these afflictions, but if they could be removed, which they can be, it would mean a still greater alma mater. This must be the ideal towards which alumni and undergraduates will strive.

SUPPORT YOUR ADVERTISERS

Students often fail to realize the importance of the advertisements in our Weekly. It is the advertisements which make the publication of the paper possible. It is the advertisers who support it.

Each one is therefore urged to note the different advertisers and patronize them. Many and varied concerns are here represented which cover a multitude of college needs. We should therefore reciprocate and in turn do them a favor for it is thru them that our work is made possible. Not only are these advertisements found in the Weekly but likewise in the Ruby and other college publications. Those who support our publications are indeed worthy of consideration.

GAFF FROM THE GRIZZLY

Special Telegram to the Weekly:

The bottom dropped out of the paper market last Wednesday afternoon, due to the sudden and unexpected large supply, which greatly exceeded the demand. The loss due to flooding the market will be felt later on in the season.

The exotic beauty of the Ursinus co-eds will soon be spread to all corners of the globe, including Philadelphia. The guardians of life, liberty, and happiness in the above mentioned place stopped the theatre busses twice in order to get more than a fleeting glance of them.

From the skill displayed in interior decorating, we would suggest that certain students offer their services to Max Reinhart, and assist in restaging the Miracle.

By the way, it is soon time for some more alark clocks in the chapel, to take the strain away from the emotional exercises.

Y. W. C. A.

The annual candle-light service of the Y. W. C. A. was held on Wednesday evening in the Y. W. room. This is the Decision Meeting, when all the new girls formally signify their desire to join the organization. A beautiful candle-light service was led by Miss Ruth Moyer, '28, Vice-President.

The Cabinet and choir sang "Softly Now the Light of Day" as a procession. A reverent atmosphere was attained by appropriate scripture with responses by the choir.

The real candle-light service then began. From the lighted candles of the Cabinet each new girl lit her own candle. When the whole room was illuminated by the soft light of many tapers, the meeting closed with the singing of "Follow the Gleam."

Y. M. CABINET MEETING

"Your Y. M. Cabinet desires to be of more use to YOU—the students of Ursinus College—than the traditional kitchen cabinet is to the housewife." This statement expresses the sentiment of the members of the cabinet, which met on November 10 in the interest of the association. Each member seemed imbued with that spirit of service which characterizes the "Y" man the world over.

The fellows who remember the two successful smokers held already this year will be delighted to hear that plans are under way for another one. This smoker is going to make Vesuvius look like a bonfire in a rainstorm. Lets all get the spirit, and make this the best smoker that Ursinus has ever had.

Mr. George Dillinger was appointed to secure information concerning the "Y" pins to be given to the new members.

Mr. Metcalf's resignation was accepted with regrets. He gave valuable service as the chairman of the Sick Visitation Committee. We wish him success in his future undertakings.

"Jobby" Johnson, Messrs. Henkels and Dillinger were appointed on a committee to—well—that's a secret.

Your "Y" is here to help you, if you make your wishes known. Suggestions are in order all the time.

WEBSTER FORENSIC CLUB

The Webster Forensic Club convened in its regular meeting, Tuesday evening, November 9. A regular debate had been scheduled by the program committee, but due to the negligence of three men selected, only one of the men, Mr. Moore, presented his argument. The question under discussion was "Resolved, that the United States should adopt universal marriage and divorce laws." Mr. Moore presented some very conclusive evidence to show that the laws throughout the United States concerning these subjects are very diverse, and that they are a source of a great many evils at the present time. General discussion of the question then followed.

De Voe-Henricks

On Saturday, July 12, Angeline Y. Henricks, '22, of Pottstown, Pa., became the bride of Jay J. De Voe, of Pasadena, Calif., at her parents' home. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William H. Sivell, of Philadelphia, and was witnessed by the immediate families and a number of intimate friends of the bride. After the reception and wedding dinner the couple left for a short honeymoon trip to Wildwood, N. J.

After graduating from Ursinus Mrs. De Voe taught two years at Ridley Park, Pa. High School and from there went to the High School for Girls at Reading, where she taught the last two years.

Mr. De Voe is a graduate of the Institute of Technology at Pasadena and took post graduate work with the Westinghouse Electric Company at Pittsburgh. At present he is a civil engineer and works for one of the largest firms in Pasadena, where the happy couple are making their home.

Rev. H. J. Herber, '11, pastor of the Memorial Church, Dayton, Ohio, has been elected successor of Rev. Dallas R. Krebs, '02, as pastor of the St. John's Reformed Church at Orwigsburg.

Rev. Ralph J. Harrity, '15, and Mrs. Harrity welcomed the advent of their second boy, Grant Elliot, on June 17. Rev. Harrity is pastor of the Grace Reformed Church, Lancaster, Ohio.

BE SURE TO PATRONIZE

THE WEEKLY'S ADVERTISERS

The Tower Window

It is hard to understand how so many college students miss their real objective. They are devoting a quaternion of the best years of their lives to the specific purpose of getting an education, they are doing so at an expenditure of considerable money—money that in most cases is hard-earned, and they are making this investment of time and money with the future in view. It is the price with which they would win success.

Now how can it be that under these conditions any student must be prodiged to his work? Why must he be dissuaded from doing things that block the way of his own progress? And if he would knowingly vitiate his own dearly bought chance in college, why will he be a menace to the success of his fellows? The laggard is not only a nuisance as far as he himself is concerned but to the entire college.

What sort of persons, under the circumstances, is the College justified in looking for in its students? The College should expect in every matriculant, an earnest, even an enthusiastic, passion for learning. The function of the curriculum and the teaching staff is to guide and assist the student in his self-imposed undertaking of getting an education—never to assign him "tasks" or to "make him work" as the saying goes. Outside readings should be assigned on the assumption that the student will read of his own volition, the assignment being merely an indication on the part of one who knows the field, of what reading will be most pertinent.

By the real student every mental and spiritual discipline will be laid hold of with avidity. The routine will be anything but irksome. He will sleep when it is time to sleep, play when it is time to play, and never work in the sense in which work is often considered, for what is commonly called work will be the happy, exhilarating exercise of the greatest faculties of his nature. The getting of a lesson or the working out of a problem will be simply living actively in the highest realm of his being. What joy it is to live up there! There are scores of so-called students who have never had that joy for a minute. If they could but sense it is some measure for a brief period, they would awake from their stupor. The achievement of an intellectual pursuit is a far more precious experience than the gratification of any physical desire whatever, and I have no disposition to discount the pleasures accruing to life in the lower realm.

To the dullard there may be no way of ascending the stairway to the bright and glorious room that was intended to be in the upper story of his life. Even if the College were able to push him up into it he would probably tumble back as from a dark attic. Such a person is utterly out of place in college, and let us hope we have none such here.

But there are many in our midst with whom intellectuality is too much a stranger. Until a man would rather read a book in the library than eat pie at the bakery he can not expect to rate in college, and this does not mean that he may not enjoy pie. G. L. O.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

SCHAFF

Schaff Literary Society presented a miscellaneous program at its weekly meeting, Friday evening, November 12. An interesting program was presented and each performer took his part admirably.

The first number was of a musical nature and was presented by Mr. Mayer, who played and sang a group of popular songs. Following this "Tinkling Tunes," another musical number was very ably presented under the direction of Miss Solt. Mr. Eugene Smith then read two of Rudyard Kipling's poems.

The next number was presented by Miss Howells, who read two short poems in Italian dialect which were greatly enjoyed. Under the direction of Miss Gross, a bit of classic literature was presented in the form of a pantomime, the purpose of which was the depicting of a scene in the Trojan War. The number showed clever originality and very appropriate costuming.

Schaff Gazette was read by Miss Garber. Her editorial was of a very high type and manifested thought and originality. She showed that the small things in our lives which seem to be a drudgery to us all contribute to a great life in the end.

Schaff welcomed into active membership Miss Brong and Mr. Werner.

ZWING

Some of Zwing's most energetic members presented the society and its guests with a very entertaining program, Friday evening. Following the introductory remarks by the President, Mr. Reimert, and the opening exercises led by the chaplain, a unique and individual program was rendered.

A violin solo entitled "Simple Aveu" by Thome was played by Mr. Barron, displaying no mean ability in interpreting his selection.

Miss Swain, a member of the younger set of Zwing, made her debut on the regular program. She is to be commended for her originality. With the aid of Miss Elizabeth Harter, Mr. McGarvey, Mr. Calkin and Mr. Shreiner this bit of wit sure made a hit.

Mr. William Denny, a popular and noted singer, sang for us "Just a Cottage Small by a Waterfall," "This is My Lucky Day" and "No Foolin'."

Mr. Steele favored the audience by reading some contemporary verse. In the order of their deliverance, they were "Sea Fever" by John Masefield; "Fog" and "The Prayer of Steel," by Herman Hagehorn and "The Peddler," by Christopher Morley.

Scenes from the Dorms by Messrs. T. Clarke, Faust and Denny followed. These clever scenes concerned members of the audience which made them very interesting. Mr. Denny acted as an Irish Hindu with an Italian accent making the entire performance humorous. Questions were answered at the request of the audience. The advice and answers received were exceptionally good.

The next number was "Never Again", a short sketch coached by Miss Stibitz and Miss Fritch. The entire cast consisted of new members. They succeeded in establishing a good reputation along dramatic lines. The cast was as follows: Misses Hodges and Frank and Messrs. Burns and Shank.

The Zwingian Review delivered by Miss Farnsler on the topic of "Society Spirit" concluded the program. It was a timely topic and well prepared.

Two promising new members were received into active membership. They were Mr. Lester Fort of Freehold, N. J. and Mr. Paul Lefever, of Lancaster.

ARMISTICE DAY

The ninth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice was observed at chapel exercises on Thursday, November 11. President Omwake gave a short address in commemoration, the gist of which follows:

Ursinus College ought to be particularly proud to join in celebration of the event which caused the bugles all along those far-flung battle-lines in Europe to blow, "cease firing," because of the fact that two hundred and seventy-one of her own sons took part in that great struggle. "A struggle for the preservation of right and justice, the extension of liberty and democracy, and the preservation of peace throughout the world." Furthermore, ten of this number paid the supreme sacrifice: First Lieutenant George Benz, ex-'11; Private Byron Fegely, '15; Second Lieutenant Frank Glendenning; Private Alvin Roy Isenberg, '12; First Lieutenant Leroy Moser, '10; Private Harvey Ott, ex-'18; Private Charles Reinhold, '13; Corporal Charles Unger, '18; Private William Yoch, '18, and Corporal Merrill Yost, '15.

Today the flag is flying, not at half mast but at full mast, for although we mourn our honored dead, we are celebrating this day rather the fruits of their sacrifice than the sacrifice itself.

It is the duty of us who are still living to gather inspiration from the bravery and the self-sacrifice of these dead heroes so that we shall apply ourselves more industriously to our peacetime pursuits.

BIOLOGY CLUB ADOPTS

NEW CONSTITUTION

The Biology Club held its second meeting on Wednesday night in Zwing Hall. After the meeting was called to order the postponed constitution of the Club was read and voted into effect by the members.

A program committee consisting of Prof. Brownback, Stanley Moyer, and Jesse Burns was appointed by the president. The Club is rapidly gaining the interest of the students and promises to soon be of vital force in the life of Ursinus. At the next meeting, to be held in Zwing hall, Wednesday, November 17, Mr. Oppenheimer and Mr. Burns will read papers on Chromosomes and Evolution respectively.

pile the necessary data and are anxiously awaiting the reaction to their efforts.

The opening section of the book has been completely revolutionized as will be noticed when compared with past books. A most exquisite collection of photographs suggestive of the divisional sections to follow will compose the subdivisional pages. The football and hockey sections have not yet been completed. This work will take form rapidly after the termination of the seasons. The last photographic work has just been done and in the words of an Alumnus, "It is the best photography that I have ever seen at Ursinus."

The feature section will be replete with characteristic cartoons accompanying the special articles. This will take it out of the hackneyed old style and develop it into a brilliant division. It really cannot be explained. Buy a book and see for yourself.

Seven Bears Lost Thru Graduation

Stan. has had hard luck each year it seems, for, in his Sophomore year he was put out in the very beginning of the season when he was hurt in the Penn game. The next year, the Swarthmore game benched him. But this year he came back with full vigor a captain of the eleven, and again in the G. Washington game misfortune befell him.

The little "big bear," George Erb, has had a very brilliant football career. Each year he has done his bit on the eleven.

Frank Strine this year for the first time is a regular, and his marks on the field will be a memory to him.

At left end Bob Henkels has played a consistent game for three years. He will be much missed after his departure.

Owen Jones has also represented the College as a rather versatile player for he has played successfully on end and in the backfield.

One of the big, "Big Bears" is Earl Skinner who has held his part of the line well for three years.

Last, but not least comes big Tom Clark who has been a three letter man for three years. His consistent playing was noted in all three of our major sports.

the ability to browse and yet read understandingly. He must read in a selective manner and bother little about the material that is used to fill in. When he has read upon the subject he reaches the third part of his art, the ability to organize. This, he showed can be most successfully done by drawing up a comprehensive brief on the material you have at hand. But with these three in your possession you have not all the essentials. In the fourth place you must have praise and grace on the platform and in the fifth place eloquence. Both of these demand an aggressive self-confident attitude and constitute fifty per cent of the power of debate. If you are the happy possessor of these, he said, you are truly a debating artist.

Elizabethtown First on Debating Schedule

Temple University on February 8. The triangular debate between Muhlenberg, Albright and Ursinus will be held February 18. The Albright team will meet one of the Ursinus teams in Bomberger, while the other team will journey to Allentown, where they will meet Muhlenberg.

Susquehanna University is scheduled to meet the Ursinus teams in a dual debate this season on February 24. Juniata College is definitely listed as one of our opponents again this year and altho the date is not definitely determined in all probability it will be held during the first week of March. Probably one of the strongest teams of the year will be that of Gettysburg College. This is the first time the Battle Town College has been listed as one of our opponents and the date set for that tilt is March 11.

With the hearty co-operation of the students, the hard work of the men composing the squads and the guidance and aid of Prof. Witmer, head coach of debating, it is hoped that we may look forward to a very successful season.

"State Taxation from the Point of View of the Business Man" was presented by Dr. Leonard P. Fox, Manager of the Research Department in the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Alba B. Johnson, President of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, then told "Why the State Chamber of Commerce Backs the League of Women Voters' Tax Law Revision Program."

Banquet at Bellevue-Stratford

The evening was entirely taken up with a banquet which was held in the attractively decorated Ball room of the Hotel.

Wednesday's Program

Wednesday morning's program consisted of a discussion by various leaders of the legislative program of the near future. Dr. May Riggs Noble, of the Department of Health, spoke of the disregard for the law in the question of birth registration.

Miss Charlotte E. Carr, of the State Department of Labor and Industry, asked for more administration and less legislation on questions of industry. Dr. Ellen Potter, of the Department of Welfare, mentioned several of the problems which confront the worker in this field and what is being done to solve them.

Dr. Graper Addresses Assembly

The first address Wednesday afternoon was "The Case for the Direct Primary," by Dr. Elmer D. Graper of the University of Pittsburgh. In a very clever manner Dr. Graper presented the history of the convention system and the direct primary, pointing out the advantages of the latter.

An enlightening discussion of the "Inter-Allied War Debts" was given by Dr. Ernest Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania, who considered the question in an important manner.

"Federal Aid," its history and significance was discussed by Mrs. Dorothy Kirchwey Brown, of Massachusetts, who showed that there is nothing new or dangerous in the practice.

Resolutions Adopted

One of the features of the last session was the reading of the resolutions by the secretary and their adoption. These includes nearly all the movements of interest to women and women voters of today. In the first of these it was decided that this organization should stand for the "rejection of all referenda of the Eighteenth Amendment, as falling outside the province of constructive legislation."

The League reaffirmed its stand in favor of the present immigration law and against weakening it in any way. The direct primary is another practice which was strongly supported. The leaders of the League feel that this is the best and most democratic method of obtaining candidates for public office.

The last resolution held that, since the League of Women Voters urged the entrance of the United States into the World Court, they reaffirm their allegiance to this practical plan for cultivating world peace.

These resolutions show the stand of this organization on the important questions that are before our legislatures today.
